PFAS Status Statement

PFAS Status Declaration

Kinetrol Ltd is currently undertaking a comprehensive assessment to determine whether per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS) are present in our products and components. At this stage, we do not yet have complete information regarding the specific PFAS substances or their concentrations that may be present in materials supplied to us.

We are actively working with our supply chain and carrying out a structured analysis to identify any PFAS substances, including their type, function, and concentration levels. This process includes obtaining updated declarations from suppliers, reviewing material specifications, and commissioning analytical testing where required.

Once this assessment is complete, Kinetrol Ltd will provide an updated statement reflecting the confirmed PFAS content and compliance status of our products in line with any applicable regulatory requirements.
